Monash University

In July 1980, Monash University merged with the Chisholm Institute of Technology and the Gippsland Institute of Advanced Education to form one of Australia's most exciting and diverse tertiary institutions.

With a budget of about $200 million a year and an enrolment of nearly 30,000 students, Monash is now one of Australia's largest universities. The greater Monash University comprises campuses at Caulfield, Clayton and Frankston, as well as Monash University College Gippsland near Morwell in the Latrobe Valley.

From small beginnings
Monash University had an enrolment of only 363 students when its doors opened in 1961. In little more than a quarter of a century, the University has emerged as one of Australia's most important centres of research and scholarship.

Monash is known world wide for its research, particularly in reproductive biology, the development of therapy for male infertility, biotechnology, and the treatment of high blood pressure. The University has become a focus for the discussion of the ethical issues surrounding some of this research. New materials, telecommunications and pulp and paper technology are among other areas of research strength.

The Public Sector Management Institute in the Faculty of Commerce and Management is developing expertise in the managing of telecommunications and the economics of the health system.

In the Department of Geography and Environmental Science, remote sensing techniques are being applied to the problems of salination, erosion and weed eradication. And Monash geographers and earth scientists are producing an entirely new picture of prehistoric Australia.

As well as being the largest law school in Australia, the David Derham School of Law is also considered one of its finest, with particular expertise in taxation and commercial law. It has been at the forefront of developing a truly multicultural law to serve the needs of Australians.

In the humanities, the University is an important centre for the study of Japanese language and culture, Slavic languages and Australian studies.

A whole world of learning

At the University College students can study applied science, business, computing, education, engineering, nursing, social science and visual art. In addition, the Gippsland campus is home to the new Monash-Gippsland Distance Education Centre, a blend of Gippsland's experience as an important supplier of off-campus courses with Monash's expertise in tertiary education, particularly in professional studies.

Each of the ten faculties is headed by a dean who is chairman of the faculty board and responsible for overseeing academic and administrative affairs of the faculty. All faculties except Education and Law are divided into departments.

The faculties' on-campus work is supported in a variety of areas by affiliated institutions. For example, the Faculty of Medicine is assisted by affiliated teaching hospitals and community health centres. Other affiliated institutions cooperate with the University in research and teaching programs.

In addition to the faculties, there are numerous specialist centres that cater for the research interests of particular groups of staff. They provide a nucleus for postgraduate and some undergraduate studies, and many are a focus for interdisciplinary research.

The University offers bachelor degree courses in Arts, Arts (Fine Arts), Business, Technology, Applied Science, Applied Science (Nursing), Social Work, Economics, Information Systems, Education (postgraduate), Special Education (postgraduate), Engineering, Law, Jurisprudence, Medicine, Surgery, Medical Science, and Science. All faculties offer postgraduate courses and masters by coursework in several specialised fields. The degrees of master and doctor and the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are available in each faculty.

The University's four campuses offer students a range of excellent facilities. The on-campus libraries hold more than 1.5 million volumes and subscribe to about 14,000 periodicals each year. The largest holdings are in the Main Library on the Clayton campus which has works mainly related to the social sciences and the humanities.

The Alexander Theatre and Robert Blackwood Hall on the Clayton campus are used for theatrical and musical performances. Both play an important part in Melbourne's cultural life. The 'Alex' is regarded as one of Australia's best-equipped out-of-town theatres, while Robert Blackwood Hall has acoustics described as among the finest in the country.

The Monash Halls of Residence on the Clayton campus have space for about 1,000 students, senior residents and staff, making up one of the largest accommodation complexes in the southern hemisphere.

Behind the edifice
Monash University is an autonomous institution funded by the Federal Government. Funding is obtained mainly from the Government, which also supports research through the Australian Research Council and funding bodies such as the Australian Research Grants Scheme and the National Health and Medical Research Council. The Victorian Government and several private charitable foundations also support research at Monash.

The University's supreme governing body is the Council which is widely representative of groups outside and within, including students, staff and graduates, professional, commercial and industrial interests, and Members of Parliament. At present, Council has fifty-five members.

The Vice-Chancellor is the University's chief executive officer, and is appointed by Council.

The Academic Board, through Council, is responsible for all academic matters relating to the University. Membership includes all professors, the university librarian, the directors of some of the university's research and service centres, and representatives elected by non-professional teaching staff and students. The Vice-Chancellor is its chairman.

The Committee of Deans is also chaired by the Vice-Chancellor and comprises deans and deputy vice-chancellors. It advises the Vice-Chancellor on many aspects of University policy and management.

The Central Budgets Committee advises the Vice-Chancellor on the framing of the University's annual operating budget. The deans are responsible for expenditure within the faculties.

For further information . . .
This calendar and its companion volumes contain information about the operation and government of the University, as well as details about courses and subjects. The Annual Report and the Research Report (published annually) provide more information about the running of the University and the nature of its various research programs. Copies of these publications are available from the Monash University Bookshop or by writing to the Registrar, Monash University, Clayton, Victoria 3168.
Sir John Monash

General Sir John Monash was born on 27 June 1865 at West Melbourne of German-Polish, Jewish parents. He was educated until the age of twelve at local schools at Richmond and Jerilderie, where his father kept a store. He then attended Scotch College, Melbourne, for four years and was equal dux of the school in 1881. He entered the University of Melbourne in 1882 but after two years had to continue part-time because of financial hardship. In 1895 he had completed degrees in Arts, Engineering, and Law and had also qualified as a municipal surveyor, an engineer of water-supply and a patent attorney. In 1894 he began private practice as a civil engineer, specialising in the new techniques of reinforced concrete, and in the following twenty years prospered from railway- and bridge-building especially.

Monash had joined the militia in 1884 and was commissioned in 1887; by 1913 he was commanding a brigade. On the outbreak of war in 1914 he took command of the 4th Brigade, AIF, and served with it throughout the Gallipoli campaign and in France in 1916. He then became major-general commanding the 3rd Division until May 1918 when he was given charge of the Australian Corps. Monash planned the battle of Hamel, in which tanks were first used with complete success, and the Australian Corps led the breakthrough of 8 August 1918, the 'black day of the German Army'. At the close of the war Monash's reputation stood extraordinarily high; many who were in a position to judge considered him the foremost military commander on the Allied side. He was also a general who detested war but who took fierce pride in the achievements of the Australians as an independent force.

In 1919 Monash carried out the repatriation and demobilisation of the Australian forces in Europe. In 1920 he accepted the general managership of the new State Electricity Commission of Victoria and in 1921 became full-time chairman of the Commission. The immense task of developing the State's brown coal in the Latrobe Valley as a source of electrical power, and organising the distribution and marketing of this power throughout Victoria, was carried out with notable success. He died on 8 October 1931, aged 66.

Monash was a great man of a kind which makes it peculiarly appropriate for a university to be named after him. He was a man of highly unusual intellectual range, who exemplified this University's motto in his continued study and drive for knowledge, and who was formidably well-informed in many fields other than engineering and soldiering. His greatest skill, perhaps, was his command of the English language, his lucid speaking and writing. He was conversant with many disciplines; his engineering and musical knowledge influenced his planning of battles. He also painted and drew, was an accomplished pianist, spoke French and German, enjoyed chess, carpentered, and was a bushwalker.

He pursued knowledge for its own sake, but always with an eye to its application. He was a scholar and a man of action.

Coat of Arms

The Coat of Arms of the University is described as follows:

'Azure a Chevron Argent between in chief an open book proper bound clasped and edged Or and a Sword enwrought of a Laurel Wreath Gold and in base a representation of the constellation of the Southern Cross also Argent.'

The devices on the shield arise as follows: the open book is commonly found on the shields of universities and learned societies and symbolises the pursuit of knowledge, the stars of the Southern Cross are of course appropriate for our geographical position, and the wreath and sword are a quotation from the shield of Sir John Monash.

The motto 'Ancora Imparo' is said to have been a saying of Michelangelo and means 'I am still learning'.
INTRODUCTION

Donations and Bequests

The University welcomes gifts and bequests for general purposes and also for special purposes such as furtherance of research and the establishment of fellowships and scholarships. Intending benefactors are invited to discuss terms and conditions with the Vice-Chancellor to ensure that their proposed gifts will be applied in a way most suited to their wishes and to the needs of the University.

Under existing legislation gifts to the University are allowable income tax deductions.

A suitable form of bequest is:

'I give to Monash University the sum of ....................... dollars free of all duties to be applied for the purposes of the University either in such manner as the Council thereof may determine or in the following manner......, and I direct that the receipt of the Comptroller of the University shall be a sufficient discharge to my trustee(s) for payment of that sum.'

When the manner of application is precisely specified, it is suggested that the Council be empowered to apply the gift or bequest from time to time in any manner which in the opinion of the Council is similar to or a satisfactory substitute for the specified manner. This is recommended because a specified manner of application might, with the passing of time, become inappropriate.

If the intended manner of application requires the University to retain and invest the capital, it will be greatly appreciated if express power is given to the Council to invest the capital in any form of investment it thinks fit, whether an authorised trustee investment or not, and also, if the Council thinks fit, to accumulate part of the income from time to time, to add such accumulations to the capital and subsequently to apply any such accumulation as income; these powers can be exercised to increase the amount of the capital and thereby offset the effects of inflation.
